We wish to dedicate this book to Dr. Paul Gossard, our Superintendent of Schools, whose wisdom has guided us through the past years, whose leadership has inspired us to make Quincy High School play an honorable part in our national affairs, and whose influence has helped to prepare us to meet the world. Dr. Gossard has helped us to see that the truest school service is found in the search for education.

SUPERINTENDENT'S MESSAGE

To Members of the Class of 1952:

In the century from 1852 to 1952 your school has helped great numbers of young people to take their places in the community and in the world. Through these years Quincy graduates have participated in events of almost unbelievable significance to their country. They have helped push back the frontiers of the United States across the entire continent, they have shared in great industrial progress, including the beginnings of the telephone, the automobile, the airplane, the radio, and television. They have done their part in times of war and in times of peace. They have helped to influence changes in empires abroad and to preserve our own way of life at home.

Today the physical frontier is no more, but I hope sincerely that the foundation which you have received here will help you to take your place in overcoming such frontiers as those of ignorance, selfishness, and civic irresponsibility.

It is my earnest wish that the years ahead will be filled with happiness and that you may have courage, vision, and the will to work to make this world as good a place as possible in which you and your fellow beings can live richly and fully.

Sincerely yours,

Paul Gossard

Congratulations! Class of 1952.

Your yearbook gives verbal and pictorial evidence of the progress in education during the past one hundred years. Today nearly all pupils complete their high school training, while a century ago only those destined to become teachers, or enter the professions, remained in school. The problems of modern education have been intensified and diversified by the stress placed on the need of "education for all American youth." To cope with this recent trend: a guidance program has been created to aid youth in planning for the future; new courses have been introduced; modern facilities have been provided; and better trained teachers have been sought.

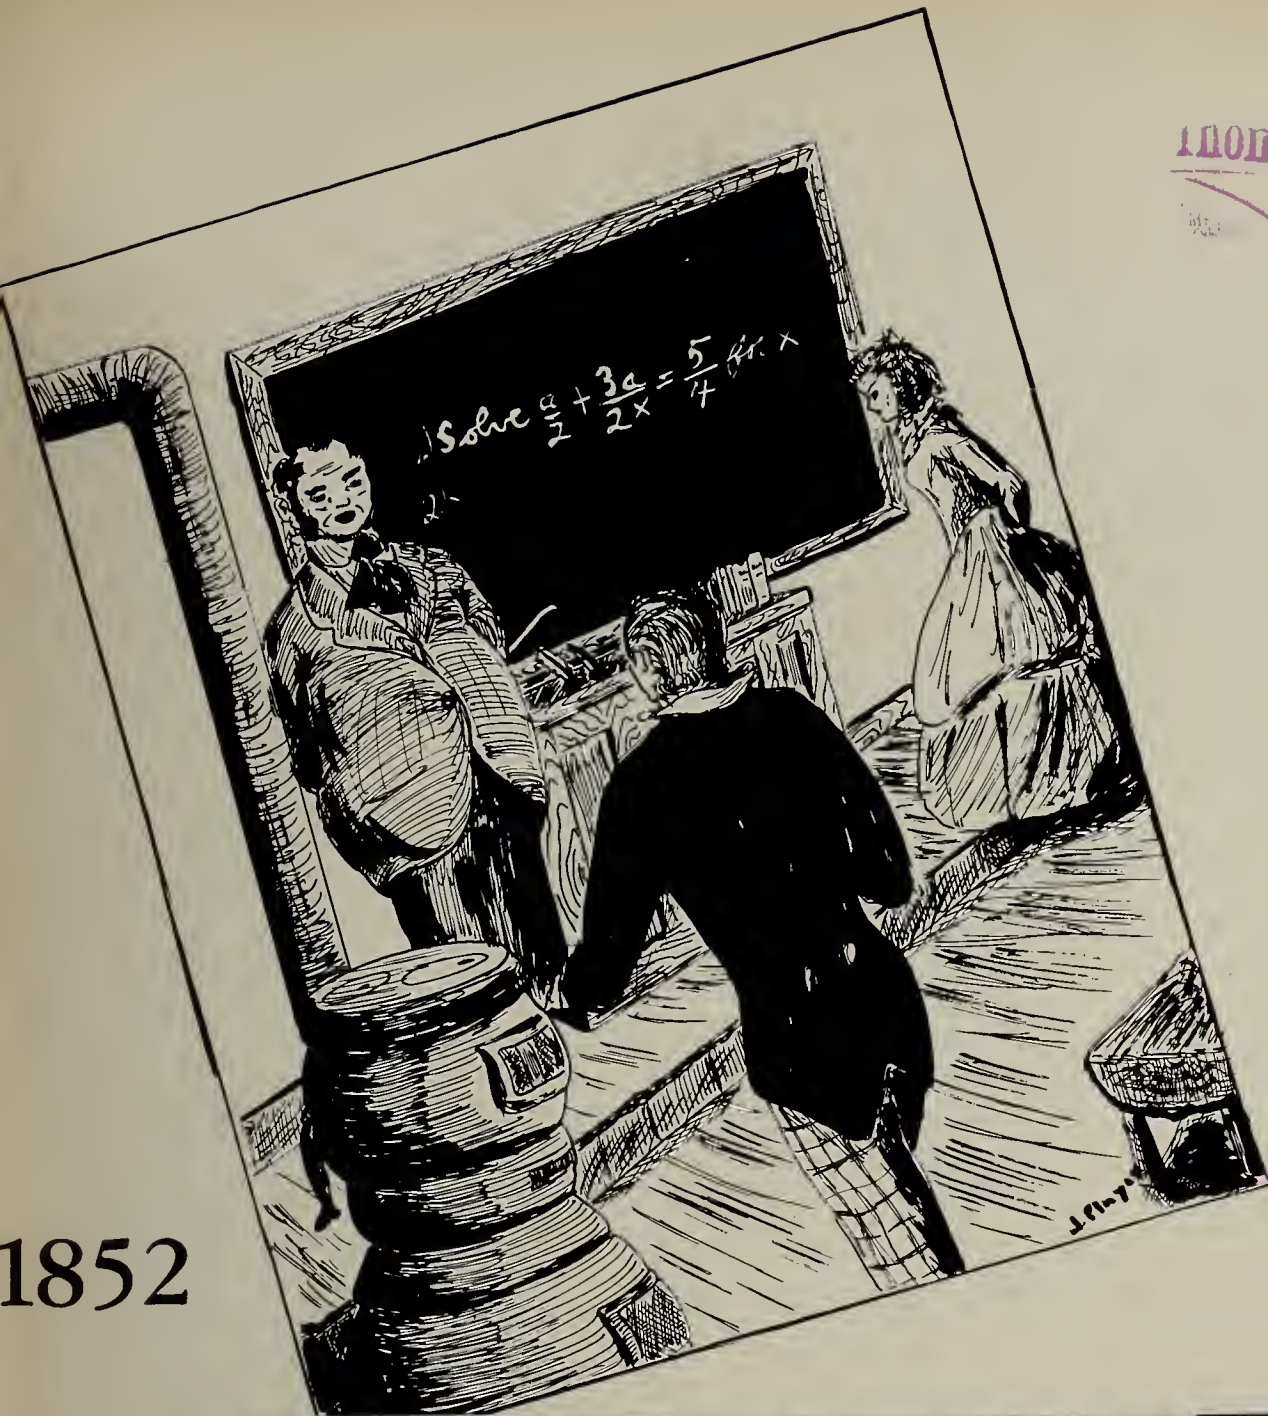

Quincy High School is proud to have had a prominent place in this expanding educational program. Our faculty joins me in wishing all of you a happy and prosperous future.

George A. Wilson

GERMAN CLUB

One of Quincy High's newest clubs is the German Club. Its enterprising members study German customs and language under the guidance of Mr. Swartz. "Freunde in der Not gehen tausend auf ein Lot." ("When good cheer is lacking, our friends will be packing.") is the motto of the German Club.

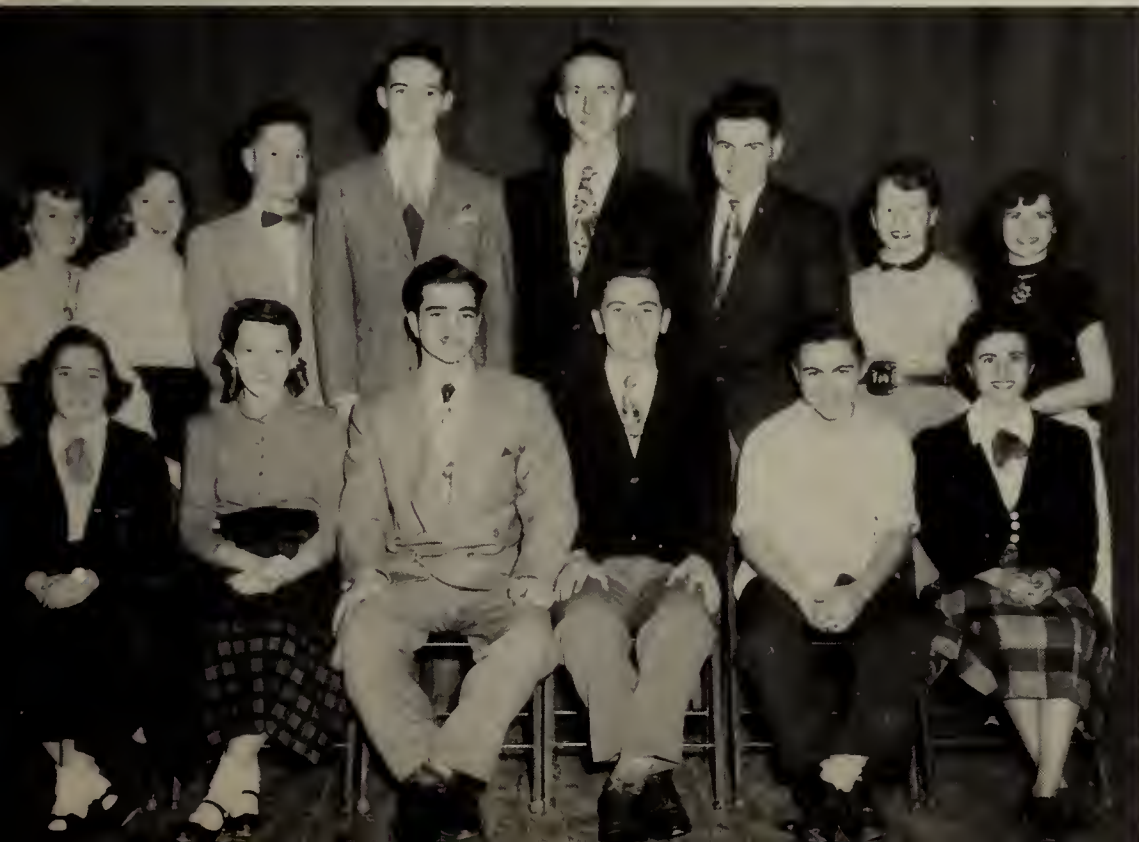

SPANISH CLUB

"Buenos Dias, Senors and Senioritas, come to the Spanish and French Club Fiesta Follies." This was a common phrase at Quincy High earlier in the year. The Follies turned out to be a great success and were only the beginning of the year's many diverting activities.

First Row: I. Marrazzo, M. Goldner, E. Schwartz, M. Pusateri, B. Pattavina, M. Zilg, D. Petrilli, J. Lofgren, B. Mascari. Second Row: B. Quinn, J. Lechtaler, B. Gadapee, C. Crooker, A. Cantfill, J. MOVIE WORKSHOP

Q.H.S. actually has a junior-sized motion picture company—the Movie Workshop. Under live wire President John Preston, the group utilized its varied talents to film "Tom Sawyer." To raise funds for this enterprise the club sponsored two Hollywood movies. The Workshop plans an outing to end its productive year.

The house lights dim, the curtain rises, and once again the talented young actors and actresses of the Page and Stage Club present one of their dramatic productions. With Miss Murphy leading the way, this year's club spent many afternoons preparing a play for presentation at the New England Drama Festival. The quality of the result proved that the time was well spent and that Q.H.S. can be proud of its Page and Stage Club.

First Row: J. Osborne, M. Ganzel, C. Sawyer, J. Carlson, J. Allen, J. Clark, S. Pitt, M. Beane, J. Cassani. Second Row: B. Quinn, B. Pattavina, M. Richman, J. Zucker, D. Petrilli, M. Marcucci, H. Q.H.S. REVIEWERS

The Q.H.S. Reviewers, sponsored by Miss Coulman and Miss Turner, have been busily engaged recommending books for the Q.H.S. Library. Book store browsing, publishing the "Q.H.S. Reviewers Recommend," broadcasting over WJDA, and contributing to the New York Public Library's book review magazine, "Circulatin' the News," have been among the pleasures enjoyed.

TRI-HI-Y

If you weren't at Quincy High on the day of the Tri-Hi-Y initiations, you missed a good chance to laugh. Besides furnishing a great deal of fun for its members, the Tri-Hi-Y provides needy families in Quincy with Thanksgiving food baskets. The faculty advisor is Mrs. Lewis, and the "Y" advisor is Connie Strudwick.

First Row: H. Ferrigno, D. Green, L. Gomez, M. Thornell, D. Fletcher, J. Corcoran, Mrs. Lewis, B. Nichols, M. Vient, A. Ohman. Second Row: C. Hutchins, A. Dwyer, M. Dunham, M. Haddad, M. HI-Y

The leaders of tomorrow are our boys in the Hi-Y. The purpose of this organization is to help boys get together and to prepare them for better citizenship.

RADIO CLUB

The Radio Club, under the supervision of Miss Goudey, is composed of twenty-five students. This club has featured Bill Edwards of WJDA in an "Information Thanks" discussion, participated in a radio program in January, visited the WBZ-TV studios, and produced Quincy's share of High School Day on WJDA.

First Row: J. Queenan, R. LaCroix, M. Pusateri, D. Petrilli, M. Richman, R. Qualter, N. Rogers, W. Tangney. Second Row: P. Caliri, J. Clark, R. Armstrong, B. Quinn, B. Peterson, R. Slobodkin, M. Marcucci, H. Coska, F. Lindfors, L. Della Lucca. Third Row: L. Parrish, A. Praznik, D. Soutter, M. Pollara, R. Barry.

Seated: D. Green, H. Coska, A. Quintiliani, J. Clark, J. Neff. Standing: A. Frantello, A. Colletti, G. Sansone, C. Lindberg, M. Parker.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Remember those little guide books which you received when you arrived at Q.H.S.? They are the publications of your Student Council, a group of popular pupils who are the mediators between the student body and the faculty. If any problems concerning school come up, the Council does its best to solve them; they are the "Mr. Anthonys" of Q.H.S. and are ably advised by Mr. Findlay.

LIBRARY STAFF

"Miss Coulman, where can I find this book?" Yes, what would we do without Miss Coulman and her dependable staff of assistants, who are always ready to help us with our endless problems?

First Row: M. DiNardo, J. Madden, G. Higuera, B. Ice, C. Wilbur, B. Chick, M. Spence, M. Larson, R. Caloia. Second Row: S. Linwood, J. Hudley, C. Adams, J. Benn, M. Bullard, J. Cole, S. Willson, B. ated: J. Osborne, C. Gilmore, M. Marcucci, J. MacDonald, R. Caloia. Standing: P. Perchard, M. Walsh, L. Riepke, V. Giudici, S. Johnson.

NEWSWRITERS

Quincy High is in the news again! Want to read about the latest happenings and the newest activities? Each week in the Quincy Patriot Ledger the write-ups of this busy group, under the faculty direction of Misses Brown and Poland, appear in the feature column Quincy High School News.

First Row: M. Ganzel, M. Sullivan, C. Schuerch, R. Holzman, G. Varveris, E. Carter, F. Lindfors, S. Starck, P. Elliot, B. Burke, S. Sprowl, J. Antonucci. Second Row: L. Wong, K. Craig, J. Nutting, L. Zilg, C. Scrivener, J. Larsen, M. Djerf, D. Shea, M. Neitz, G. Thomas, D. Campbell, S. Struen, M. Dunham, B. Burgess, N. Johnston.

GIRL'S BASKETBALL

Weekday afternoons find the gym filled with the bustling Girls' Basketball tournaments. The eight teams, bearing such impressive names as "Flying Saucers" and "Shooting Stars," will never play at the Garden. Nevertheless, they display intense rivalry, and team spirit runs high. Miss Sullivan, their advisor, also trains student referees for the games.

Seated: M. Arthur, G. Varveris, C. Schuerch, M. Parker, E. Pollak, S. Trumper. Standing: B. Reed, C. Beaumont, S. O'Connor, R. Slobodkin, S. Johnson.

SWIMMING

Each week the "Y" pool resounds with the splashes of the Q.H.S. mermaids. The girls' main purpose is to learn lifesaving, but at the same time they have loads of fun. The more advanced swimmers participate in the new competitive swimming class.

A crash of ball on pins and the Quincy Bowling Club is in action again. Twice a week the members meet at the "Y" and roll their way to fun.

First Row: I. Digiacomio, J. Arvesen, S. Faulkner, C. Beaumont, A. McHugh, C. Ford. Second Row: E. Cohen, M. Aho, B. Chick, R. Carella, K. Doherty.

OFFICE HELP

Can you imagine a group of perfect "girl Fridays," trained to perform all the tasks that come up in a school office? You can't? Well, anytime you would like to see these wonders, drop in on the Quincy High office girls.

WINTER SPORTS CLUB

Mild and sunny winter weather may appeal to some people but not to the members of the Winter Sports Club. Although last winter's unusually warm weather curtailed some of their activities, the ice skating party sponsored by Miss Gott was one event which turned out to be a great success.

Seated, Left to Right: B. Kelly, M. Marcucci, E. Carter, D. Campbell, C. Crooker, B. Marden, L. Keegan. Standing, Left to Right: F. Lindfors, L. Murray, J. O'Connell, C. Stevens, A. Dwyer, S. Hill, P. Oliver, A. Cantfill, J. Desmond, P. Watson, J. Kennedy, M. Quirk, A. Ohman. Standing, Left to Right: M. Vient, L. Cassani, J. McDermott, B. Mullin, L. Carnicelli, M. Zilg, H. Ford, T. Colletti, J. Cronin, B. Mascari, M. LoCicero.

CREATIVE WRITING

Maybe no member of Creative Writing will ever produce the Great American Novel, but it won't be because he didn't try. Under the guidance of Miss Turner, the members entered the Boston Post-sponsored Scholastic Writing Contest, trying their hands at all types of literary masterpieces.

Here's where we get into the world's work right here in Q.H.S. Everybody belongs. We send gift boxes to other countries, and material to veterans in our own hospitals. The homeroom representatives work with Miss Sauter. Several students have been active in city, state, and national chapters.

HEALTH SERVICE

To whom do we go with our cuts, bruises, aches, pains, and problems? Why, Mrs. Alexander, of course. She is aided by five able assistants, all of whom are interested in nursing as a career. They do clerical work, take temperatures, make beds, and do other odd jobs which will help them to become better nurses.

BATON SQUAD

With twirling grace and rhythmic stride the girls in blue add color and prestige to our sports events. Their drills are executed with zip and originality as they proudly strut with batons flashing in precision.

First Row, Kneeling: A. Schuman, J. Blainey, E. Avitable, B. Burke, M. Bowman, C. Frechette. Second Row, Sitting: S. Trumper, B. Chick, I. Digiacomio, J. Lofgren (Head), B. Dudley, A. McHugh, M. Weinstein. Third Row, Standing: J. Dorlay, E. Schwartz, D. Pelligrini, J. Butterfield, S. Struen, S. Sprowl, C. Cantelli. Fourth Row, Standing: J. MacLean, G. Winters, E. Benson, B. Smith, M. Caristi, S. Starck, J. Gormley.

First Row: M. Lopez, B. Kantola, M. DiPietro, G. Kyller (Head), H. Stuchins, B. Ice, C. Millikin. Second Row: C. Hermanson, A. Hogan, M. Taglieri, M. Palmer, J. Ferry, J. Wilkie, C. Hutchins.

MAJORETTES

Hats off to the girls in white! These high steppers, whose loyalty and leadership have been an inspiration to the student body, are a symbol of the Quincy High School spirit.

CHEERLEADERS

Q.H.S. has not seen a more vivacious group of cheerleaders in many a year. On hand at every game and rally, their never-ending enthusiasm played no small part in the successful seasons enjoyed by the teams.

Kneeling, First Row: B. Nichols, P. Nisula, M. Joyce, L. Keegan, P. Joyce, J. Neff. Second Row: L. Wong, L. Gomez, D. Boyden, H. Ferrigno. Standing, Top: D. Green (Head)

J.V. CHEERLEADERS

Shouts of "Quincy High, Rah, Rah," swirling skirts, and leaping figures—all these are combined in the J.V. Cheerleaders. These gals yell themselves hoarse for their Alma Mater at every game. They are coached by Mrs. Campbell.

GLEE CLUB

There's an old saying, "Practice makes Perfect." The truth of this is shown by the Quincy High Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Tuthill and Mr. Nelson. The club presented an inspiring Christmas Cantata and also took part in the Massachusetts Music Festival.

First Row, Left to Right: Miss Tuthill, J. Hartrey, M. Weinstein, M. Hudson, B. Peterson, M. Tong, E. Wood, C. Johnson, G. Jardis, M. Marcucci, L. Sansone, B. Peterson, D. Welch. Second Row, Left to Right: J. Gellatly, A. Fine, M. Larsen, T. Coletti, M. Holbrook, B. Reed, M. Quirk, F. Coury, C. Stevens, B. Tangherlini, B. Ice, M. Taglieri. Third Row, Left to Right: D. Breen, A. MacLeod, D. Townsend, J. Preston, R. Parry, G. MacPherson, R. Faust, R. Karlson, R. Sprague, J. Purpura, S. Clausen.

First Row: A. MacLeod, D. Breen, J. Gellatly, M. Taglieri, S. Clausen, J. Hudson. Second Row: R. Parry, E. Eheander, F. Coury, B. Peterson, J. Arvesen, J. Barrie. Third Row: G. MacPherson, J. Thomas, B. Lyons, B. Peterson, M. Marcucci, H. Smith, M. Hudson, R. Faust.

CHAPEL CHOIR

The Chapel Choir, well trained by Miss Tuthill, makes both an artistic and spiritual contribution to the weekly assemblies. The singing of the Lord's prayer and selected hymns offers an inspiration to the student body.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Each spring a colorful induction ceremony is held for the members of this nationwide organization for the encouragement of scholarship. The students are selected by members of the faculty on the basis of leadership, character, a desire for service, and outstanding ability. Mr. Briggs sponsors this honored group at Quincy High School.

RIFLE CLUB

Starting out with a bang, the Q.H.S. rifle team, coached by Mr. Wessling, scored an almost perfect record for 1952. A member of the National Rifle Association, the team consists of ten members who meet Monday and Wednesday.

A ten-gun salute to the sharpshooters of Quincy High School.

"Off with the old and on with the new!" Yes, Quincy's Band members have finally earned their share of the money for the new uniforms. They will exhibit them to the public at a spring concert and later at the Massachusetts Music Festival in Middleboro. For both a cheerful earful and a delightful eyeful it's the Quincy High School Band.

Seated: M. Ford, H. Coska, H. Schoeder, B. Quinn. Standing: B. Pattavina, J. Arvesen, A. Cantfill, J. Bullard, M. Pusateri, J. Clark, E. Schattgen.

GIRLS' CLUB

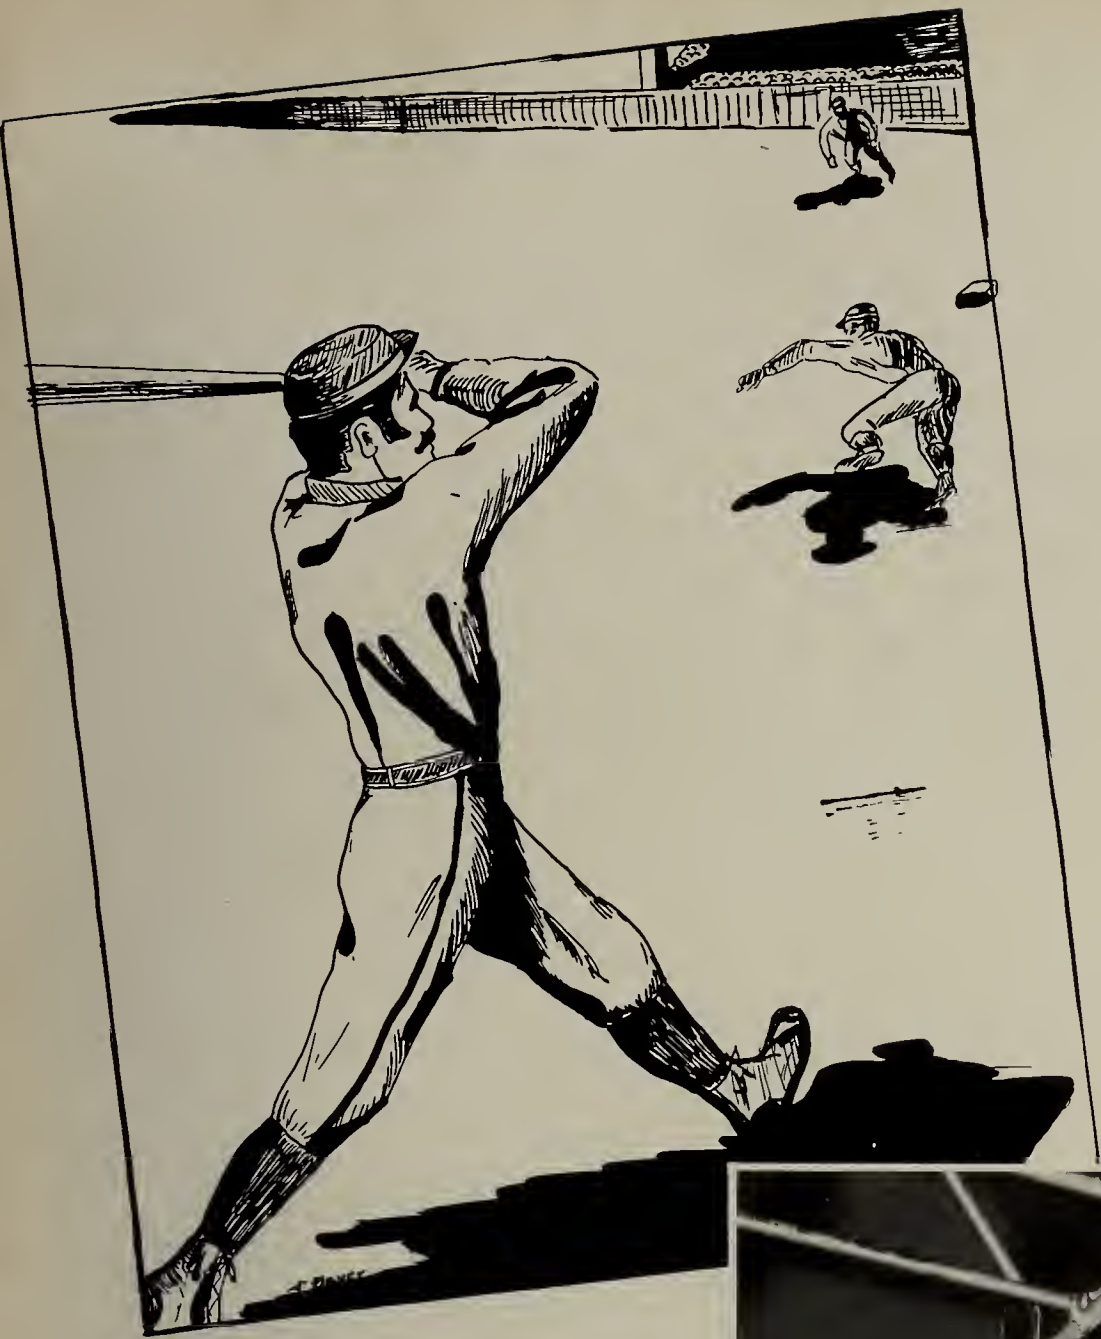

GIRLS' CLUB

The Girls' Club offers its members an opportunity to train for future community service by serving both school and community now. Among the activities which afforded the Club members fun were a Christmas party for children in December, a Thanksgiving Drive in November, a record hop, and a variety show.

Faculty directors are Miss Wheeler, Miss Eccles, and Miss Gott.

Quincy ended a successful season with a seven and two record. At the finish the students had much to remember: Frazier's 67-yard run in the Weymouth game for the first Quincy touchdown, Frazier's 68-yard run on the opening kickoff in the Somerville game, the Chelsea game where Frazier went wild on 83-, 54-, and 51-yard runs, the fourth period of the Brockton game when Bill Marsters blocked a fourth-down kick and Tony Oriola recovered the ball, and the North game, where Vin Salvucci had his big day and Bill Myers ended the season with 14 for 18 points after touchdowns. At the close of the season the greatly surprised and disappointed students learned that Coach Munroe MacLean was retiring from coaching football due to an overloaded schedule. His replacement: William Sullivan.

COACH MACLEAN

COACH LECAIN

As defending state champs, the 1952 edition of Quincy High School's basketball team compiled an impressive 14-3 record and were once again city champs. The Presidents finished third in Greater Boston League competition with an 11-3 slate, losing two of their three setbacks by one-point decisions. Besides their league wins the Blues hold two decisions over North Quincy, one over Brockton, and an unofficial win over the Alumni.

Coach MacLean once again had a well-balanced ball club with all five starters taking scoring honors somewhere along the way. Al Taglieri paced the Blues in scoring with 195 points, followed closely by Dick Barry, Richie Krasnigor, Stan Berman, and George Gabriel.

After this successful season the Blue and White were deprived an invitation to the annual Eastern Massachusetts basketball tournament because they finished third in the league. This came as a disappointment to the coach, players, and followers, whose hopes had been high for a chance to defend the title.

The margin of the Presidents' triumph was surprisingly large. When the two teams met in Quincy recently, the Prexies were hard pressed in gaining a 53-49 edge.

The Spindie City quintet had neither the offensive nor defensive equipment to prevent Quincy from taking up its eighth Greater Boston league conquest in 11 starts. The Tony Archinski brigade tried to zone and man-to-man defense but either one could slow down Quincy's victory push.

HISTORY OF QUINCY HIGH SCHOOL

This is the 100th anniversary of Quincy High School! It was in 1851 that the citizens of Quincy decided that the growing town needed a high school. To cover this need, a three-room wooden building was constructed on High School Avenue. Since that meager beginning higher education in the city has developed by leaps and bounds until the fine, flexible system with its rich and varied offerings of today was achieved. It is to the city's credit that the 100 years have been filled with such great progress.

Since the beginning there have been three high school buildings: the small one mentioned above; a much larger one on Hancock Street, built in 1894 and enlarged in 1906, now known as Central Junior High; and the present structure which has housed the High since 1924. These changes only partly show the extreme growth of the city. No matter how fast enlargements were made, the population seemed always to be one jump ahead. At one time pupils were crowded in the old school, in rooms in the Woodward Institute, and even in stores. Hardly had the present building been finished when it was realized that it was too small and the city was in need of another high school.

The outward appearance has not been the only thing that has changed. The first school offered philosophy, Greek, and Greene's Analysis. The fifty-one original pupils, who were admitted to high school through examination, studied these and other interesting subjects. However, their course of studies was very limited. At this time, to make sure that "health and spirits of the scholars should in no case suffer from over-exertion," there were Homework Laws made. That there should be no out-of-school lessons assigned to girls was one of these. The instructor was warned not to assign more than a boy of good capacity could acquire in one hour. Pupils with averages of less than 75 per cent on the report card (issued monthly) were reported to the sub-committee of the School Committee. At first there was only one teacher, conducting two schools, the summer and winter. In 1855, appropriations were made for a female assistant to help take care of the rise in attendance.

Gradually through the years many changes were made. The course of studies was greatly widened. A business course was deemed necessary in 1892 and was expanded a few years later. In 1895, manual training was introduced. This was part of the trend of having a fuller, more practical program in schools. Quincy readily jumped on the band wagon. A more recent change took place in 1945 when the long-established Quincy Trade School was joined to the High, and high school diplomas were given to its graduates. The Trade School has departments in auto mechanics, wood working, electricity, and metal work.

There have been other changes. One of the most interesting is the change in admission. The first students were required to take examinations consisting of eighty questions, twenty each on arithmetic, grammar, geography, and spelling. Two-thirds of the applicants were accepted. This method was changed to certification by the grammar school principals on the basis of the records of pupils and of an examination. It is definitely much simpler to get into high school today.

The high school today also emphasizes extra-curricular activities and sports. Its music department boasts of a fine band, a glee club, and a chorus. Diploma credit is given to the members of these groups. The sports range from Rifle Club and bowling to football and cross country. There is also an excellent baton squad. All this is a far cry from the beginning. Today school is less of an ordeal, more of a pleasure.

And now there is building again. The new addition to the school will have about twenty rooms and four floors. It will be shared by the Trade School and the High School and will contain a music room; electrical, plumbing, and interior decorating rooms; and more class rooms.

So for 100 years Quincy High has been changing, both on the outside and the inside. From one teacher in a three-room, Greek-styled building, it has jumped to about sixty teachers in a large, handsome building. It has tried to keep up with the trends, offering the students the best education available in order that they may be able to realize their greatest possibilities.

May it be as successful in the next hundred years!

FAMOUS GRADUATES OF Q.H.S.

Since its beginning a hundred years ago, Q.H.S. has had many graduates who have proved successful in life. Practically every field of industry has been represented by these men and women. The school is proud of its distinguished "honor roll" and is certain that the coming years will have many additions to it.

Many people wish to become business men, and a great many Q.H.S. graduates have done just that. There are Stanley Ferguson, president of a coffee company; Daniel Ford, manager of the Muzak division of the Yankee Network; J. Brooks Keyes, president of a sugar company; Joseph Larkin, vice-president of Bethlehem Steel; William Martin, president of the Granite Trust in Quincy; George Prout, a vice-president of the General Electric Co.; Owen Stoner, president of the Prince Matchabelli Co.; Chester Weeden, president of the Quincy Trust Co.; Arthur O'Brien, first vice-president of McCreery's; and John Kapples, president of Lincoln stores.

Others include Fred Bergfors, proprietor of the Quincy Oil Co.; Helen Burke of Ships Haven Restaurant; Claus Gelotte of the Claus Gelotte Camera Stores; Ruth MacKenzie of MacKenzie's Stationery Store; Catherine Yule Woodbury of the C. Y. Woodbury Co., and Margaret Thebideau, secretary to the Underwriting Manager of the Liberty Mutual.

Also are found Ralph Arvesen, sales manager of the White Bros. Milk Co.; Frederick Cutler of the Howard Johnson Co.; Lawrence Duncan, secretary and treasurer of the Shipbuilders' Co-operative Bank of Quincy; Reginald Hansen, assistant to the head of the Expense Department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.; Frank O'Brien, asst. merchandise buyer of the R. H. White Co.; Fred O'Brien, New England manager of the Lockwood Hosiery Co.; Joseph O'Brien, executive director of Air Lines Personnel Relations Conference; John Pinkham, industrial consultant for a plant in South Carolina; Samuel Prout, manager of the Merchants' National Bank of Boston; and Warren White, assistant general passenger agent of the N. Y. Central R. R.

Q.H.S. is very proud of the number of graduates who became clergymen. Among these are John Balcom, who did missionary work in Alaska; William Bissett; Paul Cain; Theodore Darrah; Harold Deacon; George Hodgkins; Harry Hooper; Peter MacLelland; James Mahoney, who died in the Philippines where he did missionary work; John Mullarkey; Richard Quinn; Walter Sillen; and Alfred Starrett, who did missionary work in China.

The Fine Arts have attracted many people, who have interpreted them in many ways. Carroll Coletti, the architect, designed the Thomas Crane Public Library addition. Francis Dahl draws cartoons; Gerald Horrigan is a sculptor in granite; Mary Reardon illustrates books. Bruce Saville is famous for the "Doughboy," which he sculptured. Mary Walters is an artist and Ralph Winslow is a boat designer.

In another field of the Fine Arts are three people known throughout the country. They are Ruth Gordon, celebrated stage actress, Bradford Ropes, screen actor, and Billy de Wolfe, famed screen comedian.

The musical branch is well supplied too. Katherine Mann, chairman of the music committee of the Mass. State Federation of Women's Clubs, is a fine singer. Irving Szathmary does arrangements for Paul Whiteman and also makes recordings; his brother Sidney is with the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra. Melina Wilson has a famous orchestra.

Cassandra Thayer, a literary editor of the first Golden Rod, class of 1893, started the literary side for Q.H.S. graduates. Harriet Barbour has written about Sandwich on Cape Cod and recently collaborated with Warren Freeman on a history of music for children. Carl Fowler and Lucien Thayer are on the editorial staff of the Boston Globe. Lawrence Griswold is the editor of "Backgrounds for Tomorrow" and writes travel books. John Herbert is one of the editors of the Patriot Ledger. Homer Jenks is a representative of the United Press; Doris Ricker is a free lance writer; and Emery Tobin is editor of an Alaskan newspaper.

Q.H.S. has also had its share in politics. Russell Bates is County Commissioner. John P. Flavin served as State Representative, City Solicitor, member of the School Committee and of the City Council. Irving Hayden is Clerk of the Senate. Charles Hedges is Senator from Quincy to the State Legislature. William Jenness is Representative to the State Legislature. William O'Connell is executive secretary of Quincy Chamber of Commerce. At City Hall are Donald Crane, Alex Smith, George Newcomb, Hattiemay Thomas and Anthony Venna.

Nelson Cochrane is a penologist with the N. Y. Youth Commission. Enoch Fuller is

Secretary of State in New Hampshire. Eliot Neil is vice consul at Marseilles, France. Eric Wendelin is a consul in the Department of State, Washington, D. C.

A. Wendell Clark and Ethel Wiley are members of the School Committee. Mildred Huston is Overseer of the Poor in Quincy. Captain George Fallon, now retired, was chief detective of the Quincy Police Department.

Frank Tirrell is judge of a Maine Superior Court; and Helene Poland Lawrence is a Judge Advocate in Nuremberg, Germany.

There are many lawyers: Aldo Barbardoro, Nicholas Barbardoro, Melville Berman, Paul Carosi, Stanley Churchill, Frank Coffman, Herbert Coffman, Samuel Coffman, Henry Cutler, Louis George, Bentley Kurtis, Donald MacKay, Paul Marini, Harry Pavan, Paul Reardon, Albert Slate, and John D. Smith.

William Edwards, the Quincy Historian, and Effie Waddell, General Secretary of the Family Service Society, are noted for their public services.

Some of the school's most famous names are in the fields of science and medicine. Robert Woodward, professor at Harvard, was one of the co-discoverers of synthetic quinine. Scientist Harry Diamond has had a building named after him in Washington. Wade Shorter is doing research work on glass.

There are also graduates who became dentists. These include Dr. Harold Curtis who is in Alexandria, Egypt; Dr. Richard Larkin; Dr. William Mullin; Dr. Fred Rollins; Dr. Lawrence Shaw; Dr. Edward Tinney; Dr. Starrett White, and Dr. Arthur Williams.

John Cummings is head of the Dept. of Health for Michigan; Samuel Dres is the Sanitary Engineer for several South American states; Alex Robertson is Newton's head of the Dept. of Health; and Nathaniel Warshaw is the consulting engineer for Lord, Shepard's, Boston.

A great many graduates went into the service. However, only a comparative few stayed on. Major General Albert Jones was second in command at Bataan and took part in the famous Death March. Admirals Forrest Royal and Chester Steadman have distinguished records. Many times decorated Capt. Ronald J. Woodaman, USN, is now skipper of the U.S.S. New Kent. Commanders Porter Collins and Ellsworth Smith intend to remain in the service! And there is Air Force Major General Elmer Rogers, who was awarded the "Croix de Guerre" by the French Government. In the W.A.C., Corinne Edwards holds the rank of major.

Last, but not least, there are some that became interested in teaching. Among the professors are Herbert Arnold of Columbia, Dr. James Bartlett of the University of Illinois, Hilding Carlson of B.U., Ernest Gelotte of M.I.T., Donald MacKenzie of Northeastern, Robert Nichols of Tufts, Clarence Nickerson of Harvard, Hammond Ponde of N.Y.U., Alice Reinhalter of Regis, Arthur Szathmary of Princeton, and Donald White of B.C.

Ellen Shyne is the Mother Superior at Emmanuel College. John L. Miller is superintendent of schools in Long Island. Mildred Hatrison is Director of Guidance at Quincy. Frederick and Stuart Buck are at the Central Intelligence Association at Washington, D.C.

Harry Beede, James DiNardo, John Mahoney, Henry Paterson, and Henry Prario are now principals. John Walsh is an assistant principal.

Alice Goodhue teaches music in Quincy, Hilton Marr teaches music and Latin at St. Mark's, Mary Ferguson is a teacher at the Perkins Institute, Janet Patterson is one at a similar institution in New York.

In Q.H.S. itself are Miss Muriel Goudey, Mr. Donald MacDonald, Mr. Munroe McLean, Miss Margaret Marr, Mr. Russell Rayner, and Mr. William Sullivan.

The realm of glamour is represented by Virginia Keefe, who is appearing on T.V. programs as a model for the Harvard Theater. Finally, our most recent celebrities among the young graduates are the Kilbourne twins, Nancy and Mary, who have been selected by the American Magazine for their Co-eds of the Month feature.

These are our famous graduates. Considering the great number of them, and the varied occupations they have found success in, the class of '52, about to try its own hand at life, certainly has a great heritage to live up to.

C L A S S H I S T O R Y , 1 9 5 2

We, the graduating class of 1952, are leaving behind us our school days at Quincy High School. We will, all of us, hold dear the memory of our school days, hopes, and ambitions, and especially our memories of three wonderful years at Quincy High School. Our thoughts go back to the time when we were timid sophomores, mixed-up juniors, and last of all clear-headed, serious-minded seniors.

We first entered the sacred arches of Quincy High School on September 6, 1949, a group of shy, self-conscious sophomores. We spent our first few weeks asking questions, getting lost, slouching along corridors, walking apologetically into classes late but triumphant, and getting acquainted with a thousand new friends. But soon activities were in the making, and some of us became a bit bold and participated. Some of our peppiest girls became cheerleaders and baton squad members, and many of our ambitious boys went out for football, basketball, baseball, and track, some of them destined to become Tech Tourney champions.

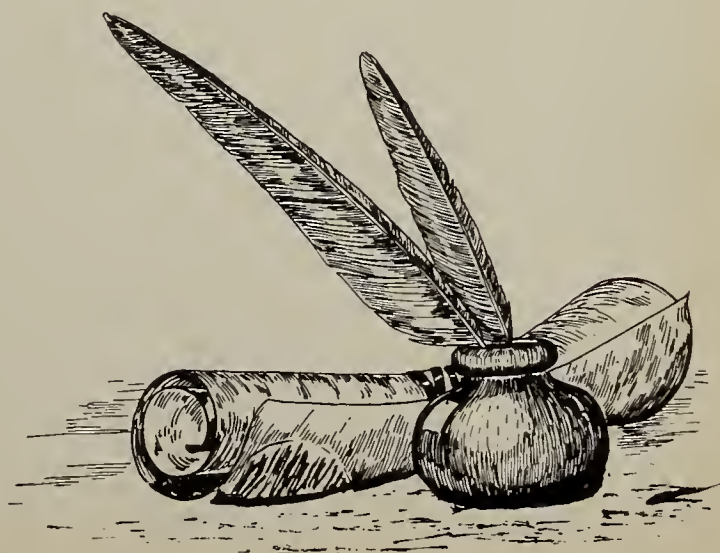

Our junior year was our busiest. We came back that year, a bit more confident, a little more mature, and proceeded to make it one of our best at Quincy High School. We started it off by making a good scholastic record. Officer elections followed soon after, and George Jacobson was elected Class President; Mary Joyce, Vice-President; Pauline Nisula, Treasurer; and Marion Haddad, Secretary. Then came that momentous day for many of our feminine classmates, Tri-Hi-Y initiation day! The masculine contingent had its share of the fun too.

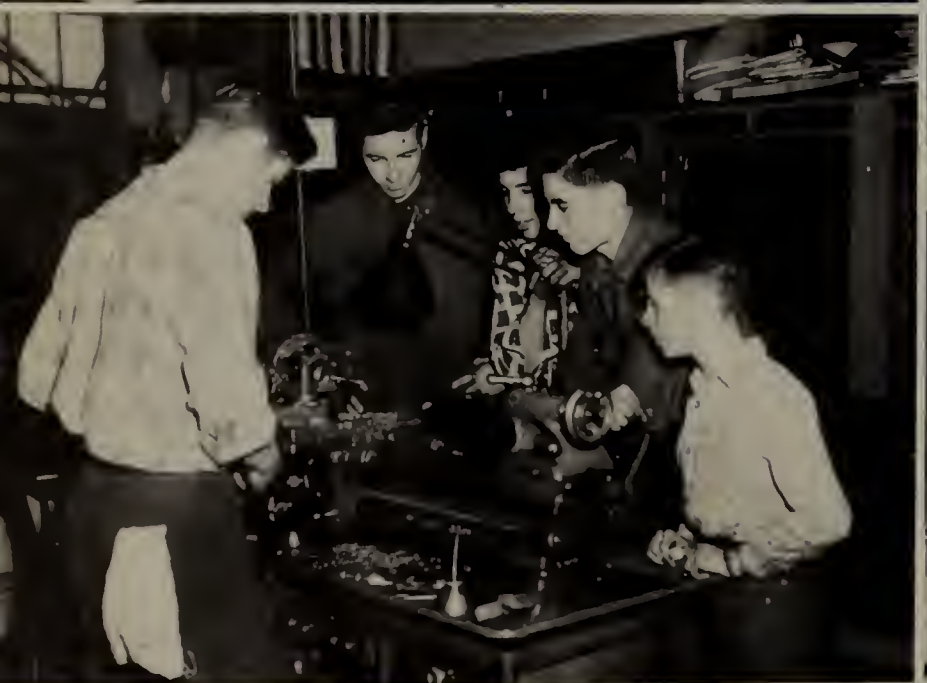

In the meantime our various clubs kept activities moving. We sponsored record hops galore, Student Council dances, and a "Winter Whirl."

Our year flew by quickly and the end came almost without warning. A number of our classmates were chosen to be members of the National Honor Society, to which students are elected by attaining outstanding scholastic records and being good citizens in Quincy High School. The most important event in a junior's life followed soon after. We received our class rings and strutted proudly about the school for weeks afterward.

On September 8, 1951, an entirely new group could be seen approaching Quincy High School. There were no new faces, but there were new ambitions. We started off with a bang, thanks to our wonderful football squad which boasted many veterans, led by our prodigy, Gerry Frazier, the "Cinderella Man." We licked Brockton, once our most feared opponent, and played a hard, fast game against Weymouth. We boasted ten fine cheerleaders, who yelled our team to many victories. We once again defeated North at an exciting Thanksgiving Day game. We held our annual victory dance, a huge success; and then were all set for basketball. Our activities and dances were many. The Girls' Club and the Tri-Hi-Y performed a real service at Thanksgiving and Christmas by helping needy children. Class pictures were taken, and there was much rushing around for us in Golden Rod activities. Then followed the flurry of exchanging pictures, bids for the prom, and finally the excitement of graduation.

Remember, seniors, life is a stage, and we are but the actors upon it. It is a play in three acts, and for us the curtain is descending on the first act, but it is not the finale. The next act in our soon-to-be separate vital records will not be ready until a later date.

CLASS WILL

We, the omnipotent Seniors of the Class of 1952, hoping that we are about to graduate from, leave, or otherwise be evicted from this institution of learning, Quincy High School, suffering from an overdose of education, being faced with the cruel vicissitudes of life, and trusting that we are of a sound and disposing mind, therefore not acting under duress, fraud, or undue influence of any persons whatsoever, have banded together to draw up this, our last will and testament, so that we may dispose of our scattered and sacred possessions which have been accumulated during our three (?) year term.

To Mr. Wilson we leave our most sincere appreciation for helping us to make our three years as enjoyable as they have been.

To Mr. Anderson we leave a clock set back fifteen minutes so that there will be no problem of detention.

To Coach MacLean we leave the perfect memory of three successive Thanksgiving Day victories.

To Miss Barry we leave a new home room of soft-spoken angels who will reflect her own sweet nature.

To Miss McCarthy we leave 674 thimblesful of rolled r's and nasally pronounced un's, en's, and an's.

To Mr. Bennett we leave hopes for future classes who will have no problems for which they need counseling.

To Miss Sullivan we leave a girls' gym class who will expect and want to take showers after an energetic class period.

And because we realize that the undergraduates may never equal our intellectual achievements we bestow on them our advice in the form of these bequests:

To the juniors we leave a few hundred hours of detention which haven't yet been made up and the hopes that they will make better use of their time than we have.

To the sophomores we leave a valuable telescope to be used when they are gazing upon the supercilious seniors.

Several particularly generous members of this imposing student body cease their habitual studying to sacrifice the following:

George Jacobson, our president, leaves some, but not all, of his charm and personality to next year's president.

Mary Joyce, our vice-president, leaves her winning smile as an inspiration to on-coming classes.

Marion Haddad, our secretary, leaves her ability to make friends, along with a large bottle of ink, to aid a future secretary.

Pauline Nisula, our treasurer, leaves her sincerity and vivacity and also an adding machine in hope of helping next year's treasurer.

Bill Myers leaves one "educated toe" for future use on the gridiron.

Dave Norris leaves his incomparable sense of humor to liven up dull classrooms.

Arthur Gossard leaves a few semi-used brain cells for the benefit of future students.

Gladys Kyller leaves several intricate twirls of her baton to the leader of next year's squad.

Dick Faust leaves his pear-shaped tones to enhance the quality of a future Chapel Choir.

Fred Dudley leaves . . .

Having thus disposed of all our worldly goods and possessions, we, the graduating class of 1952 of Quincy High School, do hereby deliver our last will and testament into the hands of the on-coming senior president. So, as we embark upon the world beyond the diploma, this most solemn document is now witnessed by these venerable and revered personages.
